LO THE CONQUERING HERO COMES.

GEN. GARFIELD'S RECEPTION AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—General Garfield and party arrived here at ten minutes past nine o'clock this morning all of the party being in the best of health and spirits. There were no incidents of special note last night after passing Altoona. The President-elect and party rested quietly and comfortably. At Harrisburg, where the train arrived at twenty minutes after three A. M., there was a stop of about fifteen minutes while the order of the cars was changed. There were few people save railroad employes at the depot, and no demonstration of any kind. From there the run was made to Baltimore without a stop. The train reached the Baltimore depot at half-past seven, remaining there about fifteen minutes while a fresh engine was supplied.

AT THE RIGGS HOUSE

The Presidential party were escorted to carriages and driven to the Riggs House, where a handsome suite of apartments had been prepared for them.

CALLS ON PRESIDENT HAYES.

General Garfield, accompanied by his wife, called at the Executive Mansion shortly after eleven o'clock this morning and joined the President and his family in the private parlor. Shortly afterwards the President and General Garfield retired for a brief consultation on the subject of convening the Senate in extra session, and it was decided to call the session for the 4th of March. The President accordingly issued his proclamation to that effect this afternoon. General Garfield deems it proper that the usual custom should be observed in convening the extra session. The Republicans can easily reorganize the Senate after the new Senator from Wisconsin arrives.

DROVES OF OFFICE SEEKERS.

Since General Garfield's arrival, the halls and corridors of the Riggs House have been filled with an eager crowd, many of them strangers. There are, however, some familiar faces who are holding fat offices, and others again who are expectants. Some are from Ohio; but the most of them are from New York and Pennsylvania. Gen. Garfield has given orders not to receive cards from persons who desire to talk about appointments. All such persons are referred to his private secretary.

He will go to Senator Blaine's this afternoon for the purpose of conferring with him on matters relating to the formation of his Cabinet. Much uncertainty exists as to who are to be selected. Nearly all the persons have been agreed upon, but the places to which they may be assigned are not settled.

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

Senate.

THE ISTHMUS CANAL SCHEME.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Mr. Eaton (Dem., Ct.) from the Committee on Foreign Relations, reported back sundry bills and resolutions recommending the construction of ship canals or railways across the Isthmus. He said the committee asked to be discharged from the consideration of all these subjects thinking that the time has not yet arrived when Congress should express its opinion in regard to any particular route or manner of crossing the Isthmus. The request of the committee was complied with.

House of Representatives.

THE APPROPRIATION BILLS.

Mr. McMahon (Dem., O.) reported the Deficiency bill, the last of the general appropriation bills, and it was ordered printed and recommitted.

Mr. Cobb (Dem., Ind.) submitted the Conference report upon the District of Columbia Appropriation bill. No agreement has been reached on about a dozen amendments. A further conference was ordered.

THE FUNDING BILL.

The regular order was then demanded by Mr. Warner (Dem., O.), who desired to go to the Speaker's table to take up the funding bill.

Mr. Tucker (Dem., Va.) moved to proceed to business on the Speaker's table for the purpose of taking up the Funding bill.

Mr. Robeson (Rep., N. J.) called attention to the fact that the consideration raised yesterday by Mr. Carlyle (Dem., Ky.) was still undecided.

Mr. Cox asked if the gentleman on the other side would vote in good faith to take up that bill without obstruction.

Mr. Price—Yes.

Mr. Cox—Not one of them will do it. They never intend to pass that bill.

The Speaker said that the Apportionment bill had not been called up this morning.

Mr. Price (Rep., Ia.) thereupon called up that bill, and Mr. Carlisle immediately raised the question of consideration.

Mr. Haskell (Rep., Kan.) moved to recommit the Apportionment bill.

The Speaker—That is not now before the House.

At this point the proceedings were interrupted by Mr. Reagan (Dem., Tex.), with the conference report on the River and Harbor Appropriation bill. In conference the Senate receded from seven amendments, aggregating $66,000, leaving the amount appropriated by the bill at $11,141,800.

Mr. Cox of New York raised the point of order that the statement about the conference was not sufficiently in detail to fulfil the requirement of rules.

Finally the report was agreed to—yeas 162, nays 84—and the struggle over the funding bill was resumed.

The Speaker said that the vote occurred on the question of consideration.

Mr. Price then modified his motion, and instead of calling up the apportionment bill merely called for the regular order.

The Speaker declared the regular order to be the apportionment bill, and Mr. Carlisle again raised the question of consideration.

Finally, by a vote of yeas 98, nays 145, the House refused to consider the Apportionment bill.

THE ENGLISH DEFEAT.

What the Papers Say of the Result.

LONDON, March 4.—The intelligence of the defeat of the British troops by the Boers and of the death of General Colley causes great excitement here. General Colley is condemned generally and the utmost horror at the number of lives sacrificed is expressed amid condemnatory ejaculations, expressions of confidence in a future victory, a demand for more re-enforcements, and editorial screams for vindication of British arms. There is not one sympathizing word, not one just acknowledgment of the bravery of the handful of Dutchmen who thus vindicated their honor and bravely fought their right to independence and liberty.

The News says the Boers will certainly not prove more tractable than before, while concession from our side has been rendered tenfold more difficult.

All the newspapers say that the credit of the army must be vindicated at any cost. This is the feeling in military circles. All demand that the Boers be overwhelmed.

The cause of defeat is attributed either to Colley's own imprudence or to his endeavor to imitate Lord Chelmsford, and by securing a victory, to wipe away the disgrace of the past mistakes. The Dutch throughout South Africa need but little encouragement to join their forces with the Boers. The Boers themselves are now committed to war to the end.

ADVICES FROM LIMA.

The Peruvians at the Capital Establishing a Provisional Government.

PANAMA, Feb. 19.—Later advices from Lima are unimportant. The Chilian official account of the battles differs little from that already furnished. The losses in killed and wounded are not so grave on either side as at first reported. Latest advices from Lima state that the people there were about establishing a provisional government with Dr. Antonia Arenos as provisional President. The Peruvian army has now entirely disappeared.

Lima suffered $6,000,000 damage from riot January 15. The municipal government of Lima is in the hands of the Peruvians, the military rule of Chilians not interfering. The news of the Chilian victories was received at Valparaiso with a jubilee of 48 hours.

BURGLARY IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, March 1.—Sunday night, E. P. Smith, a member of the Board of Trade, on retiring, carefully placed a roll of $2600 and a diamond pin, valued at $450 in the pillow-case on his bed. He was discovered insensible yesterday morning, the diamond and money missing, and the whole house ransacked from top to bottom. Smith did not recover consciousness till yesterday afternoon. There is no clue to the burglars.

The sick man is now patiently awaiting death or recovery, but should he linger on or not recover before the time expires, there will no doubt be a lively scene when the monthly gatherer of rent-money calls.

THE IRISH AGITATION.

PARNELL NOT IN HIS PLACE.

Life in Paris with Plenty of Money.

LONDON, March 1.—At a meeting of the Irish members after Lord Hartington's statement in the Commons last night regarding the position of public business, it was agreed that at the present juncture Parnell's place is rather at Westminster than in Paris, and a telegram inviting him to return was dispatched.

LONDON, March 1.—In the House of Lords tonight, Earl Spencer, Lord President of the Council, moving the second reading of the protection bill, pointed out that outrages, though greatly diminished in number, were still committed in Ireland, and he cited some recent cases. He said these outrages could be only the result of inflammatory speeches, but the necessity for the bill arose less from the perpetration of outrages than from the difficulty in tracing the offenders. Earl Spencer did not wish their lordships to think rebellion in Ireland was imminent, but when such hostile feeling existed, and when the American papers were inciting Irishmen to rebellion, outrage and assassination, there would be great danger if prompt and effectual measures were not taken for the maintenance of law and order.

Lord Beaconsfield supported the bill because he thought it absolutely necessary. The agitation in Ireland was fostered by an organized conspiracy of foreigners. It was absolutely necessary that the government should possess the power to defend the Queen from foreign conspirators who were passing to and fro between another country and Ireland.

LONDON, March 1.—Mitchell Henry, Home Rule member of Parliament for Galway county, writing to a gentleman who accused him at a public meeting of deserting the Land League, says: "I never belonged to the League. The stupid and irrational policy of the past few months has crippled the Irish vote in Parliament forever. The money extracted from poor people in America and at home is removed to a foreign soil and no accounts are published. The leader flies at the very crisis of the fight which he professed to fight in Parliament."

LONDON, March 1.—The Telegraph says Mr. Shaw, who has just returned from Ireland after a week's stay in county Cork, says he finds that district rapidly settling down to business, and the excitement generally subsiding.

LONDON, March 1.—In the House of Commons, this evening, Sir William Harcourt, Home Secretary, replying to a question, said he had received a threatening telegram signed "John Devoy;" but he did not intend to make representations in regard to the circumstances to the American government. Such representations, he said, might give rise to an international controversy, Devoy, from a British convict, having become an American citizen. As long as he and his confederates, the leaders of the Land League, are content to remain beyond the sea, and on the other side of the Atlantic, we will not interfere with them. If they came over here we might have to pay them some attention.

LONDON, March 2.—The Standard's Dublin correspondent learns on good authority that less than a hundred persons will be arrested under the protection bill. The police are very active in making arrangements for arrests, and lists of persons have been prepared for immediate presentation to the Viceroy. The Land League will not be interfered with so long as it keeps within reasonable bounds. Owing to the near approach of the enforcement of the coercion bill, several persons from the other side of the Atlantic who have been going about Dublin, have disappeared. The Fenian element there is considered contemptible and the authorities know everything connected with it.

THE WHITTAKER TRIAL.

NEW YORK, March 1.—At the Whittaker court martial today, Professor Michie, teacher of natural philosophy at West Point, testified to the good qualities and memory of Cadet Whittaker.

Advocate General Major Gardner then commenced his argument in favor of the admission of the letters of Whittaker in the evidence, to which ex-Governor Chamberlain, counsel for the accused, replied in a long address.

THE FORTHCOMING LIFE AND REMINISCENCES OF CARLYLE.

Ten years ago Mr. Carlyle placed in my hands a collection of his wife's letters, with directions to publish them, if I should think fit, after he was gone. It was his wish at that time that no biography of himself should be written, or attempted to be written; his life was his works; his private history, he said, was his own—a thing with which the world had no concern; nor did he think that I or any one was likely to give a true version of it. On subsequent reflection, however, he considered that a life or lives of him would certainly appear from some hand or other, and, since it must be so, he made over to me all his correspondence, his journals, private papers, and unfinished manuscripts, with permission to use them or destroy them as I might think fit. The materials thus at my disposition I found extremely voluminous, several thousand letters among them; his own letters to members of his family, and letters from the most eminent of his contemporaries to himself. Besides these were "Reminiscences" of his father and mother, of Edward Irving, of Lord Jeffrey, with whom in early life he had been extremely intimate, and the materials for a memoir of Mrs. Carlyle, intended to form an introduction to the letters of hers which he had prepared for publication. These "Reminiscences" appeared to me to be far too valuable to be broken up for purposes of biography. I told Mr. Carlyle that I thought that before anything else was done they ought to be published as they stood. He assented, and eighteen months ago I proposed to him that they should be printed while he was still alive, that he might himself revise them. For a time he thought that this might be possible, but he found that it would agitate and excite him. He left me, therefore, to follow my own judgment, and to bring them out myself, if I thought proper, after his death. These sketches will appear in a few weeks; sketches of his father, James Carlyle of Ecclefechan; of Edward Irving, of Lord Jeffrey and of Jane Welsh Carlyle. The first three will be printed exactly as Mr. Carlyle left them. The account of Mrs. Carlisle is fragmentary; it contains many things obviously not intended for publication, and Mr. Carlyle himself directed in strong terms that it was not to appear without careful examination and revision. I have, therefore, used my discretion in making large omissions. The mass of matter remaining on my hands is so extensive that I have not yet decided in what way to deal with it. Mr. Carlyle's own letters are so uniformly admirable that none of them ought to be lost. The same may be said of the letters to him from Gothe, Mill, Jeffry, Sterling, Emerson, Leigh Hunt, Dickens, Thackeray, Varnhagen von Ense, and many other famous persons. Paper and ink, it is said, should least be spared over the biography of a remarkable man.—[Mr. J. A. Froude to London Times.

......The late Senator Carpenter reverenced Rufus Choate with almost filial devotion. Choate loved him greatly, and predicted for him a career not less brilliant than his own. When the young student graduated from his office he drew up for him a great list of costly books which he said he would need in his Western practice. Carpenter could have bought the state of Massachusetts just as readily as he could have bought that list. But Choate astonished him still more when he said, "You will draw on my purse for these books, and for all your other wants, until you are established. Take all you need; it does my heart good to give it to you." He would take no notes or other evidences of Carpenter's indebtedness. The money was scrupulously repaid to the last cent, but with some difficulty, for Choate would forget, or pretend to forget, the generously denied important items in the account.

ERICSSON'S DESTROYER.—In Scribner's Monthly for March, Mr. Charles Barnard describes a new armor-clad boat christened the Destroyer, of which Captain Ericsson, of Monitor fame, is the inventor. This boat, if it is found to possess even a few of the formidable qualities which are claimed for it, will take an important place in the navies of the future. It is described as properly an instrument of precision, self-contained, armored, self-moving and submerged in the water. It consists essentially of three parts—the iron-clad boat and its motive power, the gun, and its explosive projectile. The vessel is wholly of iron, one hundred and thirty feet long, eleven feet deep, and twelve wide. These proportions are designed to give her a high speed, while her lines are exactly alike in both directions, enabling her to go ahead or astern with equal facility. The hull is divided by an intermediate iron-clad deck of plate-iron, and the space between the two decks is partially filled with cork and with bags inflated with atmospheric air. When ready for action the boat is nearly submerged, the deck being only a few inches out of water. Forward of the engine, and placed at an angle of forty-five degrees, is an extra and massive armor-plate, backed with four feet of wood-work, and constituting a shield or guard to resist shot fired from the front. The top of the rudder is four feet under water, and it is controlled by means of hydraulic cylinders placed outside the boat on each side of the keel, with the piston rods connected with the rudder. There are three openings in the deck, one forward to the gun-room, one to the engine-room, and one for the admission of air to the blowing and ventilating engine. The motive power of the boat consists of a simple horizontal engine, which is only a trifle over eight feet square, though of 1000-horse power. Two boilers are placed close to the engine amidships, and the coal is stored between the two decks. The most extraordinary thing, however, about the invention is the new submerged gun. This remarkable piece of ordnance stands on the floor of the torpedo room, just above the keel. It is of gun metal, cast in three pieces, the rear or breech section being re-enforced by a number of heavy steel rings shrunk on. The different sections are securely bolted together, and the whole piece is thirty feet long, with a bore of sixteen inches. The missile used in the gun is twenty-five feet six inches long and sixteen inches in diameter, and weighs 1500 pounds, including the firing charge of explosive, placed in the forward end. This terrible torpedo or submerged shell is placed in the gun, and the cartridge is placed behind it. The breech-block is then closed, and the wires are connected with the electric firing apparatus. The sea-valve is opened and the gun is fired, throwing the torpedo directly through the water at the enemy's ship. It leaves no disturbance on the water and can neither be seen nor avoided. No netting hung about a ship can keep it away, for it moves at the rate of 310 feet for the first three seconds, and will travel from four to seven hundred feet, rending its way through nets or shields till it strikes the ship and sends her to the bottom. The sea-valve is closed immediately after firing, and any water that may have got into the gun is allowed to run out at the breech and fall into the bilge, whence it is pumped out by aid of a steam siphon. The details of the torpedo and the method of handling it are the secrets of the inventor. Capt. Ericsson has been aided by the Navy Department with materials and men in his experiment, and both the boat and her gun have been thoroughly tested.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

JANUARY SESSION.

TUESDAY, March 1.

SENATE.

Senator Tillinghast, of Pawtucket, asked for the unanimous consent of the Senate, to recall Title XX., "Of the Domestic Relations." The consent was granted and the Senate then moved to amend section 7, of chapter 163, "Of Marriage," by striking out the proviso requiring that ministers before joining persons in marriage shall file in the Town Clerk's office, a certificate of ordination. He said such a proviso would work great inconvenience and be of doubtful utility. He had conferred with the Senator from Warwick, who had proposed this provision, and the latter had expressed his willingness to have the section remain as it came from the committee. A vote was then taken and the proviso stricken out, and the title as thus amended was passed, and ordered to be communicated to the House.

Senator Smith, of Barrington, presented petitions of Mark H. Wood and 100 others, voters, and Lydia Wood and 171 others, non-voters, all of Barrington, praying for the enactment of a prohibitory law. Referred to the joint special committee on the subject.

The resolution, proposing a constitutional amendment which shall permit school suffrage for women, came up from the House, and was made the special order for Thursday of next week.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. Lapham, by general consent, introduced a bill concerning marriage, which, he said, was not to dispense with the religious ceremonies, but to place on civil status, and to provide some measure by which marriage may be recorded. The bill was read, ordered printed, and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. Hazard, of South Kingstown, presented petition of John H. Caswell, for relief from defaulted recognizance. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. Colt, of Bristol, called from the table the bill in relation to auctioneers, which came from the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Hall, of Cranston, moved to amend the bill so as to allow one per cent. on the amount of sales between $400 and $20,000, three-fourths of one per cent. on amounts between $20,000 and $30,000, and one-fourth of one per cent. on sums exceeding $20,000.

The amendment offered by Mr. Hall was then adopted, and as amended the bill was passed.

Senate bill ceding the jurisdiction of Whale Rock to the United States for lighthouse purposes, was received and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

The House then adjourned until Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock.

FIRE IN ST. PAUL.

The Capital Burned to the Ground.

ST. PAUL, March 1.—About 10 o'clock tonight, while both houses were in session, an alarm of fire was sounded, which startled the members from their seats. Rushing from the chambers they were confronted with a fire brand from the dome of the capital which was already ablaze. A hook and ladder company with headquarters near by, hurried to the scene, and with the aid of their ladders the members all escaped. Some of them were slightly singed. The building burned rapidly to the ground, entailing a loss to the state of over a hundred thousand dollars for the structure and the loss of the Historical and Supreme Court Library, which cannot be restored. The records were all saved, however, as they were in the vaults. Over two million of state trust bonds are in one of the vaults, which is saved. The legislature has but two days to sit, and the Market Hall is being fitted up for their accommodation tonight. There is no insurance.

A Modern Miracle.

THE MOST MARVELOUS EXPERIENCE OF ONE OF BOSTON'S LEADING CITIZENS.

How it Occurred.—His Description of the Circumstances, and the Overwhelming Testimony of Prominent Witnesses.

[Boston Globe, Dec. 8th.]

The readers of this paper were more or less amazed at a most remarkable statement from one of our leading citizens which appeared in yesterday's issue. So unusual were the circumstances connected with it, and so much comment did it occasion on the street and in social circles, that a representative of this paper was commissioned to investigate its details and verify its facts. The article referred to was a statement made by Mr. B. F. Larrabee, of the New York and Boston Dispatch Express Company, that after having lain at the point of death for more than three weeks, given up by both physicians and friends, he had completely and wonderfully regained his usual health. Mr. Larrabee was found in his private office on Arch street, and upon being questioned said:

"Well, sir, logically, I have been dead, but really, I am as you see me. A little over a year ago, I was taken sick, but I allowed the illness to run along until on the 28th day of October, 1879, I fell prostrate while walking along Tremont street. I was carried home and did not go out of the house until the middle of December. I then went down town and attempted to attend to my business until the 13th of last January, when I was taken with a very severe relapse. My symptoms were terrible. I was fearfully bloated; I suffered severe pains in all parts of the body and it was almost impossible to get my breath. For six days I never laid down and never slept. I was constantly attended by my regular physician, Doctor Johnson, and Doctor Bowditch also came to see me nearly every day. There was no doubt that I was suffering from Bright's disease of the Kidneys in its worst form and last stages, accompanied by other troubles in my liver and heart. In spite, however, of the skill of the physicians, I kept growing worse and finally they tapped my side in the vicinity of the heart, taking away forty-six ounces of water. This relieved me for the time, but I soon became as bad as before. Then the doctors gave me up entirely, declared I could not live more than twenty-four hours and my daughter, who was residing in Paris was telegraphed for. Still I lingered along for several weeks, far more dead than alive, but never giving up hope. One night—it was on the 20th of April, I very well remember—my attendant, who was reading the paper to me, began an article which described my disease and sufferings exactly. It told how some severe cases of Bright's disease had been cured, and so clearly and sensibly did it state the case that I determined to try the means of cure which it described. So I sent my man to the drug store, procured a bottle of the medicine, unknown to my physicians and friends, and took the first dose at 10 o'clock. At that time I was suffering intensely. I could not sleep; I had the short breaths and could scarcely get any air into my lungs. I was terribly bloated from head to foot, and the motion of my heart was irregular and painful. The next morning I was able to breathe freely; the pain began to leave me and the bloating decreased. I continued to take the medicine, and today, sir, I am as well as I ever was in my life, and wholly owing to the wonderful, almost miraculous power of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. I do not know what this medicine is made of, or anything else about it, but I know it saved my life when I was given up by the doctors and had really been dead for weeks; that it has kept me in perfect health ever since and has cured many of my friends to whom I have recommended it. There are a number of very remarkable cases in Lynn and Salem, as well as in this city, that it has cured. My recovery is so remarkable that it has excited much attention, and physicians as well as others have investigated it thoroughly. I am glad they have, for I feel that the results of such a wonderful cure should be known to the thousands in all parts of the land who are suffering from troubles of the kidneys, liver, or heart in some of their many dangerous forms."

The representative of the press thanked Mr. Larrabee for his very frank and clear statement, and was about to leave the office when a gentleman stepped up to him and inquired if he was seeking information about Mr. Larrabee's sickness and recovery. The scribe replied that he was, whereupon the gentleman said:

"And so am I, and I have come all the way from Chicago for that very purpose. Kidney troubles seem to be alarmingly increasing all over the country, and I have a very near relative who is afflicted much as Mr. Larrabee was. I have been to see the physicians of whom Mr. Larrabee speaks, and I tell you, sir, it is simply wonderful."

"What did they say?" asked the man of news.

"Say! why, sir, they fully confirm everything Mr. Larrabee has stated. I went to see Dr D. A. Johnson, at 20 Worcester street. He was absent when I called and so I stepped into the Commonwealth Hotel where Mr. Larrabee was living at the time of his sickness. Messrs. Brigh & Carter are the proprietors, and I asked them about Mr. Larrabee's case. Mr. Brigh pointed to me the electric annunciator and said 'why for weeks and weeks every time that bell rang I said: That means the death of Mr. Larrabee. No one around the hotel ever dreamed that he would recover and when the doctors would come down from his room they would shake their heads and say there was no hope. The arrangements for the funeral were all made and his recovery was simply a miracle."

I then called on Dr. Johnson who said that Mr. Larrabee's case was a very remarkable one. He was his family physician and expected his death every hour for a number of weeks and never called to see him during that time, but he was prepared for it. The doctor said the recovery was due to Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, and if he had friends, male or female, troubled with albumen or any kidney troubles he should certainly advise them to use this remedy. Dr. Johnson said kidney difficulties are more common than most people think and that many symptoms which are supposed to be other diseases arise from the kidneys. He said that ladies after gestation are specially subject to albuminous troubles which require prompt attention.

Well, I then came down and called on Dr. H. Ingersoll Bowditch on Boylston street. The old doctor was inclined to be reticent but fully confirmed all I had previously learned. He had attended Mr. Larrabee, had supposed him to be beyond all hope, and was afterwards restored, as he said, by Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure.

I next went to see Dr. Melville E. Webb, at the Hotel Cluny, for you see I was determined to be thorough in the matter. I found Dr. Webb a most clear-headed and well-informed gentleman, and he said:

"I know of Mr. Larrabee's case from having thoroughly investigated it as medical director of a Life Insurance company, and it is one of the most remarkable cases I have ever met. Mr. Larrabee had all the manifestations of a complication of diseases, and in their worst forms. He had albumen and cast in the urine, and a terribly diseased liver and spleen. Indeed, he was so bad that he threw himself upon the floor, and with his head upon a hassock, struggled for breath. It was on the night when he was so bad and when all his medical advisors had long given him up that he began using Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver cure. The next morning at 10 o'clock he was able to breathe freely, and has been ever since. I subjected him to the most thorough examination possible, after his recovery, and 'I can't find out about him.' His kidneys, liver, lungs and heart are perfectly well and sound. I can only add that, from what I have seen, I should unhesitatingly recommend this remedy."

The conclusion from the statement above made, which come to the newspaper man as well as to the general public, must be two-fold. First, that a modern miracle of healing has been performed in our midst, and that, too, by the simplest means and one which is within the reach of every one; and secondly, that testimonials of such high character and so outspoken in tone conclusively prove the value of the remedy and its superior nature to the proprietary articles with which the public have been flooded. "The greater includes the less," and the remedy which has been proven so valuable and has saved a life after it was brought down to death's door must unquestionably be certain in all minor troubles which are so disastrous unless taken in time.

Mr. Howells has entered into business relations with James R. Osgood & Co., of Boston. He hopes now to find more leisure for writing.

Some of the Democratic newspapers speak of Senator Mahone as "a light weight." They should remember that it took only a feather to break the camel's back.

The British loss in South Africa proves to be less than at first reported. Seven hundred and twenty-eight officers and men were engaged, and of these 83 were killed, 122 wounded and 50 taken prisoners or missing.

The deed conveying Conkters Harbor Island, with the conditions set forth in the resolution adopted by the people, and in the express language thereof, has been duly executed and forwarded to the proper parties.

And so the water question is settled at last. The discussion has been going on for many years and every step of progress has been stoutly resisted. But the friends of the great improvement have never faltered, and never doubted the result. By a concurrence of favorable circumstances Newport is supplied with pure water without the usual debt which falls to the lot of cities similarly situated. Now that the controversy is over, all classes will doubtless be pleased. Mr. Norman with his accustomed energy will have the hydrants, stand pipes and drinking fountains in place at an early day, and the people will dwell in love and unity.

DEFENSE OF RHODE ISLAND.

Senator Anthony's speech before the United States Senate in which he defends the peculiar institutions of Rhode Island has been published in neat and convenient form, and a copy is before us. It is an able and candid discussion of the whole subject and reflects great credit upon the author. Senator Anthony shows first of all that a republic is not necessarily a democracy, and asserts that it may be as far removed from it as from despotism itself. In a pure democracy the people participate directly in all governmental proceedings, while in a republic the sovereign power is exercised by representatives of the people. Ours is a republican and not a democratic form of government.

According to Senator Anthony's view, which is sustained by all well informed writers on the subject, universal suffrage is not an essential to republican institutes. When our republic was established by Washington and his compatriots universal suffrage did not exist in a single state. This fact shows the interpretation which the fathers put upon the constitution of the United States, and also upon the fundamental laws of the states themselves. Strictly speaking, universal and equal suffrage does not exist in any state today.

Senator Anthony shows that while Rhode Island may be less democratic than some other states she is in no sense less republican, and that Congress has no power to interfere with our peculiar institutions. On this latter point there can be but one opinion. The "investigating committee" sent on here by the Confederate brigadiers was a farce of the broadest character, as every one acquainted with the facts is aware. Nothing came of it, except in making the originators and supporters of the movement a little more ridiculous in the eyes of the people than they had already made themselves. Senator Anthony well says that our people have a right to enjoy their peculiarities. If changes are effected they will come from within and not from without the state. That Rhode Island has not rendered herself obnoxious to the world is evident from the fact that immigrants continue to pour into her territory, and not only from the old world, but also from other states, until she is now the most densely populated state in the Union. This fact certainly does not show that our peculiar institutions are held in abhorrence, or that they militate against our growth and prosperity.

We are not attempting to give an outline of the able speech before us. It is worthy of a full and careful reading by every well informed citizen, and we trust it may be widely circulated. Its study cannot fail to correct many popular misapprehensions and give a better knowledge of our institutions in their relation to individuals as well as to the community at large.

NEXT, THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

Since the agitation begun for a Board of Health distinct from the Aldermen, no less than four memorials, either one of which should have been conclusive, have been presented to the City Council. The physicians of Newport, with absolute unanimity, requested the appointment of such a Board; the Sanitary Protection Association pointed out how essential it is for the health and business interests of the city; the School Committee have formally asked to have its aid; and an immense petition from those who best represent the intelligence, the sobriety and wealth of our city, has completed all that can be done in this direction. The legal quibbles that were said to be in the way of the desired Board have been removed, the Assembly passed the Enabling Act, and what has remained, for a year or more, has been for those whose business it is to perform the duty indicated, to cease trying how not to do it. Upon the question of a Permanent Board, the Common Council now stand as follows: six against it, and four in its favor.

The experiment was tried last year of a so-called Advisory Board, whose opinion was not to be asked and whose advice was not to be volunteered. Suggestions were however nominally requested once or twice, and being found too straightforward and practical for the purposes of the Aldermen, the Advisory Board was discontinued, and at present there is none. Three more competent men than its members (Drs. Engs and Rankin, and Capt. Cotton) were for a Permanent Board, could not be selected.

Petition having failed, another form of persuasion becomes required. Our hydrants were not obtained till valuable houses had been destroyed, and the insurance companies of the country had commenced to hesitate with regard to taking Newport risks. Then all at once, the City Council commenced to see that a supply of water was not so bad a thing as they had declared, and gentlemen who had sworn that they would never vote for it, hastened to do so as soon as they could again go through with the farce of asking for authority from a public ballot.

In the matter of a Board of Health, continued deaths and a well-grounded distrust of Newport by outsiders will before long accomplish what the burning of houses did for the hydrants.

During the present winter there has been a great deal of preventable sickness in Newport; at this moment there exists an epidemic of measles. In speaking of this with the Mayor a day or two ago, he informed me that the disease referred to is not included by the City Council among those worth while to be guarded against, and that children are permitted to freely go from infected houses to the schools; "many people, you know," he said, "think it an excellent thing for their children to have the measles while still quite young." Physicians, upon the other hand, prefer that their own children, at least, should never have the measles, any more than scarlet fever, or typhoid fever, or diphtheria, at all.

Now as to there being any danger from measles. All that need be said is that there were reported by the National Board of Health, in the last number of its Bulletin, dated Feb. 19, 1881, and from sixty-eight cities and towns in the United States, taken as it were at random and many of them smaller than Newport, no less than sixteen hundred and one (1601) deaths from measles during the year 1880. In these same cities and towns, during the same period, there were 2986 deaths from typhoid fever, 3612 deaths from scarlet fever, and 7287 deaths from diphtheria; or, in other words, there were less than twice as many deaths from typhoid, but little over twice as many from scarlet fever, and not much more than four times as many from even diphtheria.

It is unnecessary, however, to adduce such evidence. Those who do not desire to become convinced will not listen to any evidence whatever. They do not even care if their children die, so long as they themselves remain "consistent" to some previous vote or preconceived notion. The only argument with such persons is the purely mercenary one, and as they claim to have been elected to their positions of trust by a majority of their constituents, surely that majority cannot complain that such an argument should be applied, to themselves, as well. The following paragraph will convey my meaning. It is taken from the close of a communication upon the sanitary condition of Newport, that I sent, by request, to the American Public Health Association at its recent meeting at New Orleans, and that, as I judge from a letter very lately received from the secretary of the association, will probably before long, in printed form, be circulated in every part of the country. It is the highest duty of every physician, next to guarding his own family, to protect the health and life of others.

"During the present year, 1880-81, gross derelictions of official duty, or at least instances of excessive timidity and inefficiency, upon the part of the City Council have occurred. A vast piggery has been permitted in the the neighborhood of the finest quarter of the city, in the face of an ordinance by which the keeping of swine was forbidden, and delicate persons have been made ill in consequence, and compelled to leave the town. The private contractors for the removal of swill have, even in the hot season, made their calls or not as suited their own convenience, although by another city ordinance their duties were clearly defined; while the filthy wagons of privy cleaners, both wagons and laborers being of the oldest fashioned kind, have been allowed to poison the air, defile the streets, turn the stomachs of all who were not bestial people, and bring down maledictions upon Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council combined. These, and such things, sooner or later, cannot fail to be amended. Meanwhile, and very justly, the reputation and the prosperity of Newport are materially injured. For one, and I am not alone in this matter, despite the attractions of Newport and its comparatively satisfactory climate, I have thus far declined to recommend families containing delicate members to come here for permanent residence. The natural conditions of the place are favorable for health and longevity. A good many of the past generation, exceptionally hard to kill and surviving as the fittest, have attained here a green old age, but within a very few years Newport has doubled its population, and consequently its sources of filth: so that until there exists a proper system of sewerage (as yet there is no system at all),—until the soil water is reduced at least, to its natural level (as yet no provision has been made for the escape, other than through the soil, of an abundant aqueduct supply that is now in domestic use in all portions of the city),—until many of the old cesspools that now contaminate the wells are filled up or removed,—until the real estate agents are directed by city ordinance to furnish evidence certified to by a competent inspector, that the houses they offer to strangers are safe to live in and not mere death-traps like several already examined by the Inspecting Engineer of the Sanitary Protection Association—and until, over and above all, there is here a permanent Board of Health officials, who will care for these and other sanitary matters systematically, and not as now at hap hazard, it will be just as well for intending residents to wait a little longer, perhaps a year or two even, before purchasing an estate. The time will eventually arrive when people can in reality safely come here to live."

HORATIO R. STORER.
MOSS BANK COTTAGE, March 1, 1881.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—Ash Wednesday.

—The storm signal is up.

—Newport will be well represented at the National Capital on Friday.

—Dr. Finley at Fort Adams will attend the inauguration ceremonies at Washington this week.

—The Misses Dame have closed their residence on Broadway for a few weeks and will spend the time in Lynn, Mass.

—A new ship, the Dakotah, has arrived here in tow of a tug. She is from Bath where she was built and is bound to New York.

—The Newport Choral Society will resume its rehearsals on Friday evening of this week, entering upon new work which is being arranged by the Board of Government.

—A private letter has been received from Mrs. J. J. Astor stating that she will not be in Newport the coming season. It is understood that she will pass the summer in Europe.

—The burlesque initiators of the Royal Arcanum, who have twice appeared before Newport audiences, will give the Portsmouth people instructions in peculiar secret work at Oakland hall this evening.

—Mr. B. F. Bliss, one of the postoffice clerks, has been granted a two weeks' leave of absence. He has left for Washington where he will be the guest of a son of Quartermaster Forsyth, U. S. A., recently stationed at Fort Adams.

—There will be a Bible reading at Friends' Meeting House, Marlboro' street on Thursday at 3 P. M., by William Jacob of Maine. The gospel services at Friends' Meeting House conducted by Gospel Service Committee of the Yearly meeting will be held each evening this week at 7½ o'clock.

—Mr. and Mrs. George A. Pritchard were called to Bangor some three weeks since by the serious illness of Mrs. Pritchard's mother who has since died. Mr. Pritchard's youngest child was taken ill there and has just begun to rally. The family will be detained away from Newport some days yet.

—Fall River News: Mr. A. B. Wordell, of the Mulberry street poultry yard, reports that he was more successful at the recent exhibition at Newport than at any other place where he has exhibited poultry. Besides being awarded several prizes, he made a sale of eleven birds, netting some $33 from them.

PORTSMOUTH.

The schools were suspended on account of the condition of the roads which were badly washed by the recent rains.

The farmers are having a fine time shooting the sea fowl whichare numerous in the East bay and may be heard a long distance away.

The robins are said to have arrived and give hopes of an early spring which will be welcome after the severe winter, the worst known for six years.

TIVERTON.

Much damage has been done to the roads by Monday's storm. There are some bad gullies near the station which make it impossible to drive there.

AN ABDUCTION.—The town has been somewhat excited over the abduction of a child which was adopted about a year ago by Mr. and Mrs. Eli Hammond. It had been deserted by its mother, Mrs. Proctor, and given to the Hammonds by its grandmother. It was a lovable little thing and had won its way to the hearts of its adopted parents who have no children of their own.

A few days since, the child's mother with another woman came to Mr. Hammond and demanded the child and was refused. They returned again Friday in company with a man living in the north part of the town, and seizing the child, carried it off in direct violation of Mr. Hammond's orders. It is said that the two women have been inmates of a house of ill-fame on the Fish road for several months, and that the mother has taken the child to a like establishment in Fall River. Mr. Hammond has instituted legal proceedings for the recovery of the child.

HONORS TO PIUS THE GREAT.

When Pius IX. died, he expressed a dying wish that no more than 2000 francs should be spent on any monument that might be erected over his tomb. Thinking this sum too low for a Pope's dignity, the present Pope and his Cardinals have got over the difficulty by deciding to do as Pius IX. wished in the first instance—that is, to erect a simple monument over his tomb that is not to cost more than 2000 francs, whilst over it they will erect another that may cost any sum not less than 60,000 francs. The monument is to be erected in Santa Maria Lagglore, where there is already a kneeling statue of Pius IX., which was once intended for his tomb, until he altered his will, after the Italians entered Rome.—[Cor. Phila. Bulletin.

CITY COUNCIL.

There was a general attendance of members of the City Council last evening and much routine business transacted such as receiving, acting upon reports, &c., &c.

The Finance Committee's report shows a total expenditure of $8,848.05 during the past month, which affords the assurance that the city funds are well cared for, inasmuch as this sum covers expenses for streets, lights, paupers, schools, salaries, and much beside.

The Treasurer's report and exhibit was of the same tenor, the amount of money now on hand being $80,904.26.

A resolution to remit taxes improperly levied against I. P. Hazard and P. G. Case was adopted.

A bill was presented for payment of expenses in holding an inquest over the remains of Charles Wiggenhauser. Referred to Committee on Finance.

Benj. Easton, Jr., had asked for damages to his premises by change of grade and the Committee on Highways recommended that he have leave to withdraw.

Mr. Coggeshall of the second ward objected to this disposition of the case. He thought damage had been done and the petitioner entitled to compensation.

Gen. Burdick took the same view of the case.

Mr. Barker explained the views of the committee and thought the fault as to grading was partly, at least, that of the petitioner.

Mr. Coggeshall gave a sketch of the history of the street and urged that justice be done to the petitioner.

Mr. Barker suggested that having secured the grading of West Broadway it was not just the thing to come in for money, and intimated that there were several other cases to follow.

By common consent the subject was then laid over until another meeting.

A resolution for watering Bellevue avenue and other streets was adopted.

The joint special committee on water supply reported that the contract with Mr. Norman had been completed and duly signed. The report was received and the contract approved. Thus ends the famous water controversy.

The City Marshal's report showed more crimes and criminals than there ought to be. Fifteen drunken people had been officially helped to their homes, but the report did not say how many have been officially assisted to get drunk.

An appraisal of damage to sheep by dogs was presented amounting to $50.00. The sheep belonged to Albert A. Wilbor but it was not clear who owned the dogs.

M. O. Stoddard sent in his resignation as Appraiser in such cases and it was accepted.

A petition for a sewer in Thames street, in the vicinity of Willow court, was presented, the petitioners offering to build a sewer in the court at their own expense. Referred.

A petition from Edward Mathews for relief from overflow of water was received and referred.

The committee reported in favor of appropriating $100 for a frame for pictures to be known as the rogue's gallery. The Board of Aldermen, desirous to give the rogues a less ornamental setting, cut it down to $25. But the members of the other branch, moved, perhaps, by a kindly fellow feeling, restored the sum to the original figure and insisted up on a round hundred. With this action the Aldermen refused to concur. As the case now stands every rogue must frame his own picture.

A resolution regulating the purchase of police uniforms was adopted.

Councilman Coggeshall presented a resolution directing the drawing of a deed for the conveyance of Conkers Harbor Island which shall conform to the vote of the people.

Mr. Coggeshall explained the situation and urged that the Council had no right to add to or take from the language of the vote approved by the taxpayers. He paid a worthy tribute to Mr. Aldrich for his labors in behalf of Newport in this case. President Franklin followed in the same strain.

Mr. Barker thought that the people did not wish to give the island except for a Training School. He wanted it fixed so that it cannot be diverted from that use.

Col. Sherman agreed with the last speaker and insisted that the island should revert to the city if not used for the Training School.

Gen. Burdick thought there was no doubt but the property would come back to us if not used for that purpose.

The resolution was adopted in the Common Council as follows:

AYES—Franklin, Bachelier, Waters, Peckham, Burdick, Underwood, Coggeshall.

NOES—Stoddard, Sherman, Barker.

The Board of Aldermen concurred without division.

Petitions for street lights on Cliff avenue, Ruggles avenue and Ochre Point avenue were presented. Received and referred.

TEMPERANCE MEETING.

Notwithstanding the continued disagreeable weather last evening, there was a good attendance at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, to listen to Mr. Thos. N. Doutney, the converted liquor seller and reformed inebriate. Mr. and Mrs. Doutney are here under the auspices of the Newport Temperance Association, a new organization created from the remnants of the old Newport Reform club. The meetings, which began last Sunday, are becoming more interesting each night. The meeting last evening was opened with the reading of Scripture by Mr. Doutney and the offering of prayer by Rev. Mr. Van Horne. These were preceded and followed by congregational singing. After being introduced, Mr. Doutney made a few remarks after which Mrs. Doutney sang as a solo, the "Ninety and Nine." Though still suffering a little from hoarseness the solo was most acceptably rendered. Is is a pleasure to know that this lady, with her sweet voice, will be present each evening to add to the interest. Her singing has given much pleasure wherever she has appeared. Her voice, though clear and powerful, is not as strong as it is sweet. Mr. Doutney gave an impromptu talk. He wants earnest people about him. He announced the platform of the new organization to be "non-sectarian and non-political and non-abusive." He said that he had been informed that the "old club" were like the most of us, guilty of many errors. They came together tonight acknowledging the mistakes of the past and, by Divine help, propose to do better. They ask for sympathy in this work, so they can extend the same to others in need. When a human being is in trouble there is no time to ask "who are you?" "Where did you come from?" What is wanted is to relieve them of the trouble. The speaker related some anecdotes illustrative of the result of the willingness to assist. He gives the action and dialect of each character spoken of in his talks and lectures and attributed his reformation and conversion to Divine help. Rev. Mr. Barrows, Rev. Mr. Van Horne, Mr. Warren, and ex-Chief Brayton were among the audience. A large number signed the pledge. A good feature announced by Mr. Doutney was that the new organization would not be tainted with personalities. The meetings will continue every evening this week at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association.

THE CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH FAIR.

The Central Baptist Church fair at Odd Fellows' hall has been quite a success. The weather was not in its favor and has made some difference in the receipts, but the sale of fancy articles, flowers, cake, ice cream, etc., has been very satisfactory. The prices were reasonable. The flowers were fresh cut and were kept in a cool place until disposed of. One pleasing feature of the entertainment was no soliciting to purchase this or that article and the people were free to walk and listen to the music without fear of being asked to take a chance in various articles. The management and the fair in general have reason to be pleased with its financial success.

MARDI GRAS LAST NIGHT AT NEW ORLEANS.

The grand scenic display of his Majesty Rex was the leading feature. The theme, Arabian Nights' Tales, was handsomely illustrated. First came a herald, then a detachment of police, the court band, Earl Marshal Guards, Grand Vizier, standard bearers, Hindoo priests, Boeuf Gras; then came twenty-three cars containing tableaux in the order named, many prominent figures in groups being richly attired and attendants appropriately costumed. The first car contained King Schahriar, seated on his throne, followed by the court officers and attendants. The cars containing the Princess Scheherazade, the Voyage of Sinbad, the Story of Zobeide, the Story of Beder and Gishara, the King of the Black Isles, the Three Calendars, the Second Royal Mendicant, the Story of the Third Calendar, Barber and his Seven Brothers, the History of Prince Zeyn Alasnam, the Nine Diamond Statues, the Forty Thieves, Baba Abdallah, the Enchanted House, Aladdin in the Cave, Aladdin's Banquet, Abou Hassan, Prince Ahmed and the Lions, Little Hunchback, the Story of the Envious Man. Then followed comical displays of the I. O. O. M.'s and the Phunny Phorty Phellows and promiscuous maskers on foot and in vans. The procession was an hour in passing.

The Mistick Krewe of the Comus theme. Myths of the Northland, illustrated the story of Sigurd, the Volsung, and the falls of the Niblungs. First in the procession was a large transparency inscribed, "Myths of Northland," and the story of Sigurd. The first tableau was Comus leading his mistick krewe of Comus, magnificently attired in blue and silver, seated on a peacock, whose gorgeous plumage formed a fit ground for his figure and costume. This was followed by fifteen cars, each containing a magnificent tableau in the order given: The genius of Northland; gods of Scandinavia; the sword in the Branstock; the death of Sigmund; the house of Reidman; the treasures of the world at the Waterfall; the workshop of the dwarfs; Elfland, the power of Gudrun; Grimhield preparing the magic drink; the voyage of the Niblungs; the last of the Niblungs; the hell of the Northland; Valhalla, Ragnarok, the twilight of the gods. This was one of the handsomest displays of the kind ever presented here. After passing through the principal streets the crew gave a grand tableaux and a ball at the Opera House. The route of the procession of the crew being much shorter than that of the day procession, the streets along the line were literally packed, every available space of the streets, sidewalks, doors, windows and galleries being occupied.

SENATOR HAMLIN.

When Hon. Hannibal Hamlin of Maine retires from the United States Senate March 3 there will no longer be a man in that body who participated in its deliberations when Webster, Clay, Calhoun, Cass, Benton, Mason, Hunter and Seward were party leaders and Senators. He constitutes the last link which connects the days of those great men with the present. Mr. Hamlin entered Congress in 1843 as a member of the House. Among the members of that House still living are ex-Governor Fish of New York and Alexander H. Stephens of Georgia. Among its distinguished men who are dead were John Quincy Adams, Stephen A. Douglas, Andrew Johnson, John P. Hale, Solomon Foot, Henry A. Wise, Howell Cobb, John Slidell and J. R. Giddings. While he was serving in the House, Mr. Hamlin was elected to the Senate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Governor Fairfield. That was in 1848. In 1851 he was re-elected for a full term. Mr. Hamblin belonged to the anti-slavery wing of the Democratic party, and continued in that organization until after the assault upon Charles Sumner. Soon after that event he took occasion in the Senate to declare that he could no longer follow the Democratic leaders, resigned his chairmanship and thenceforth acted with the Republican party. In the next state election—that preceding the Fremont campaign of 1856—Mr. Hamlin was the Republican candidate for Governor. He was elected by a decided majority. He was elected in 1857 to the Senate, and re-entered as a Republican March 4 of that year. In 1860 he was nominated for Vice President on the Lincoln ticket. In 1865 he was appointed Collector of Boston by President Johnson, which office he resigned because his ideas of duty would not permit him to be understood to be in sympathy with the President. In 1869 he was re-elected to the Senate, in which body he has served until the present time. From first to last, Mr. Hamlin has been a man of thorough convictions and of downright integrity. When he retires to private life, after a public service which dates back to 1836, no foe, if he has one, can point to a stain upon his record. He may have erred in judgment, but his vote was never influenced by personal considerations. He has all those years been a clean-handed, reliable, industrious legislator, not brilliant but serviceable and steadfast. Somewhat old-fashioned in his methods and not so progressive as many, he has faithfully served his state forty-five years; and now at the age of seventy-two he returns to private life, having the good will and respect of all and the affection of thousands of his life-long constituents.—[Boston Journal.

Lieutenant Theodorle Porter, United States Navy, will be ordered shortly to the Naval experimental battery, opposite the Naval Academy. Lieutenant Porter was in charge of the battery several years ago.

A CHASE.

BEN BUTLER'S FAMOUS YACHT AMERICA CHASED BY THE REVENUE CUTTER SAMUEL DEXTER. —THE FOLLOWING PARTICULARS OF THE TROUBLE WITH THE YACHT AMERICA ARE GIVEN BY THE NEW BEDFORD STANDARD OF TUESDAY.

Yacht America was hauled off L'Homme-dieu Shoal by steamer Hunter, the price agreed upon for the service being $400. The America after being hauled off made extra sail, and when Captain Davis of the Hunter (not knowing the name of the yacht, her master having told him she was an oyster vessel bound to Virginia) asked the captain if he wasn't coming aboard to make a settlement, the man replied that he'd "be d—d if he would." Capt. Davis caught sight of the name on the stern of the schooner and found it to be "America," Gen. Butler's celebrated yacht. The captain of the yacht said he was bound to the West Indies, and invited Capt. Davis to "come on." The Hunter started in pursuit but could not keep up and was about to give up the chase when the revenue cutter Samuel Dexter was sighted, and Capt. Davis ran down and told his story to Capt. Irish asking him to bring the America to and examine her papers. The cutter was near Tarpaulin Cove and the yacht off Cuttyhunk, but the Samuel Dexter overhauled the clipper after a long chase. Capt. Irish hailed the America and ordered her to come to, but no attention was paid to the hail, and a gun was fired. This had no effect, but a second one brought the America to, and Capt. Irish boarded her. Her papers were found correct, she being bound from Boston to Baltimore, where Gen. Butler is to join her and make a trip to the West Indies. While Capt. Davis was on board with Capt. Irish, the master of the yacht offered a small sum in settlement, but Capt. Davis refused, and will commence a suit to recover the sum agreed upon for his services. Captain Davis states that had the yacht remained in the position where he discovered her a short time longer the damage by water must have exceeded $10,000. Action will be taken at once to recover the money.

It is not necessary for a man to keep his mug at the barber's shop, but he must take it there in order to be shaved.—[Rochester Express.

Thursday, the 7th day of April, is set apart as a day of fasting, humiliation and prayer and going to the theatre. After prayers there will be a football match on the Common.—[Boston Globe.

The canary had begun to twitter a little after moulting, but was unable to sing his entire tune. The little four-year-old, after listening to one of the bird's vain attempts to master his tune, said very composedly, "Mamma, birdie only sang half a verse."—[Rome Sentinel.

About now the enterprising farmer's lad seeds down a bed of early lettuce under glass and watches it closely, expecting to sell the rank and sudden growth for eight cents a head. By this means he stocks up his library of dime novels, and is enabled to indulge his penchant for plaid neckties.—[New Haven Register.

They were watching the sea gulls whirling in graceful circles above the waters of the bay, while the rays of the sinking sun covered the landscape with a flood of gold. Finally he turned to her, and, in a voice trembling with emotion, asked, "Darling, if we were sea gulls, would you fly away with me and be at rest?" To which she answered, with her gaze fixed on a far-off mass of castellated clouds, "No, George; I'd let you fly away, and then I'd have all the rest I wanted here."—[Brooklyn Eagle.

Mr. E. B. Perry writes to a Cleveland paper which proposed not to criticise him on account of his blindness, or at least not to "compare him with artists who, guided by an unerring eye, have a thousand advantages over him": "Now it is just this tendency to exclude one in my condition from the common privileges which I particularly deprecate, and from which I have struggled for years to escape, against an overwhelming prejudice far worse to cope with than any physical disability. In fitting myself for my life work, both as soloist and teacher, I have had the same ends in view that others have; conscientiously followed for a decade the same arduous course of study as they, under the same methods and masters, both here and in Europe. Why should I be denied the same privileges of friendly rivalry and just comparison which they enjoy, since it is only by comparison that the standard of relative merits can be established? Each has his own disadvantages; one, a small or ill-formed hand; another the lack of means or strength to prosecute his studies; a third, lack of sight; yet all compete for the same prize, and each in the open lists must guard or conceal, as best he can, his weak points. In justice to myself, and to avoid misapprehension, let me state clearly that I wish to be no exception to this rule—with the public, the press, and my brother musicians. I earnestly solicit such recognition and encouragement, and such only, as I can fairly earn in competition with others upon a strictly legitimate professional and art basis, without reference to any peculiar difficulties which I may have had to overcome. They are mine to meet and vanquish as I may. When the artist comes upon the stage, the question is, what and how does he play? not what are the obstacles he has to contend with. While always grateful for the courteous leniency which would be shown to any young artist, striving toward a high ideal, and fully conscious of, and anxious to eradicate his own defects, I do most earnestly request, nay, I have the right to demand from one and all, that the sweetness of what little hard-earned success and commendation may from time to time be justly my due shall not be poisoned by humiliating qualifications or exaggerated into undue proportions by over-zealous sympathizers. In a word, that my performance be judged as such by the recognized criterions, and praised or condemned on its own intrinsic merit or demerit.

The young lady in seal sacque and fur bonnet was at the lecture, and during the entire hour was busy with her pencil. An elderly lady had noticed this with unconcealed pleasure. At the close of the lecture she stepped up to the young lady and congratulated her upon her good sense in taking such copious notes. "Oh," exclaimed Miss Sealskin, "I wasn't taking notes. I was only putting down a list of things that I have got to get on my shopping trip this afternoon." The elderly lady simply said "Oh!" but she looked cruelly disappointed. —[Boston Transcript.

RUPTURE

Wesley Phillip's Case.

DR J. A. SHERMAN Dear Sir: I am happy to inform you that I am entirely cured of my large scrotal rupture. It is one year ago today that I received your treatment. I have tested the cure by going without the appliance. My business is that of a locomotive engineer. My rupture, as you will recall to your mind, was similar to Mr. Jordan's, in your pamphlet of illustrations.

I was ruptured in the year 1863, while in the army. I have tried spring and elastic trusses with great discomfort and injury, my rupture always growing worse. Finding I must get some relief or give up my business, I determined to try you as a last resort, and I must say that I found your treatment a complete success. My improvement and cure have, considering my terrible condition, surprised my friends as well as myself. During your treatment I have worked hard in my business, enjoying both safety and comfort, and have not lost a day's work. My general health has also improved. I will take pleasure in recommending the afflicted to you whenever I have an opportunity.

You may publish this letter for the benefit of humanity. My address is 211 East 44th street. With best wishes I remain yours, respectfully,

WESLEY PHILLIPS.

New York City, Oct. 25, 1880.

Its Relief and Cure as Certain as Day follows Day.

Since the reduction of Dr. Sherman's terms, thousands are crowding upon him for treatment, gladly throwing away their griping, irksome, dispiriting, and life-punishing trusses. His treatment for this affliction unites the patient comfortable and safe in the performance of every kind of exercise or labor. It is a grand thing, and those who are ruptured and do not provide themselves with it must endure the dangers of that precarious affliction and the use of trusses all through life. Thousands of those cured give the most flattering testimonials of gratitude to DR. SHERMAN. He is the author and inventor of his popular system; he imparts his secret to no one; it is applicable to all classes and cases, and, under his reduced rate, within the reach of almost everyone.

THE GREAT

KIDNEY REGULATOR

AND DIURETIC.

Kidnegen is highly recommended and unsurpassed for Weak or Foul Kidneys, Dropsy, Bright's Disease, Loss of Energy, Nervous Debility, or any obstructions arising from Kidney or Bladder Diseases. Also for Yellow Fever, Blood and Kidney Poisoning, in infected malarial sections.

By the distillation of a Forest Leaf with Juniper Berries and Barley Malt we have discovered Kidnegen, which acts specifically on the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, removing deposits in the Bladder and straining, smarting, heat or irritation in the water passages, giving them strength, vigor and causing a healthy color and easy flow of Urine. It can be taken at all times, in all climates without injury to the system. Unlike any other preparation for Kidney difficulties it has a very pleasant and agreeable taste and flavor. It contains positive diuretic properties and will not nauseate. Ladies especially will like it, and gentlemen will find Kidnegen the best Kidney Tonic ever used!

Notice.—Each bottle bears the signature of Lawrence & Martin, also a proprietary government stamp, which permits Kidnegen to be sold (without license) by Druggists, Grocers and other persons everywhere. Put up in quart size bottles for general and family use. If not found at your druggists or grocers, we will send a bottle prepaid to the nearest express office to you.

SURE CURE

For Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Asthma, Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

Put up in Quart-Size Bottles for Family Use.

Scientifically prepared of Balsam Tolu, Crystallized Rock Candy, Old Rye, and other tonics. The formula is known to our best physicians, is highly commended by them, and the analysis of our most prominent chemist, Prof. G. A. MARINER, in Chicago, is on the label of every bottle. It is well known to the medical profession that TOLU ROCK and RYE will afford the greatest relief for Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Weak Lungs, also Consumption, in the incipient and advanced stages.

Used as a BEVERAGE and APPETIZER, it makes a delightful tonic for family use. Is pleasant to take; if weak or debilitated it gives tone, activity and strength to the whole human frame.

CAUTION. DON'T BE DECEIVED by unprincipled dealers who try to palm off upon you Rock and Rye in place of our TOLU ROCK AND RYE, which is the only medicated article made, the genuine having a GOVERNMENT STAMP on each bottle.
